

Finding projects for your experience.

Riipen's project marketplace offers thousands of projects, but we understand that finding closely matched projects is vital for learner success.

Our Employer Success team markets your published experiences to potential employers who can create exclusive projects tailored to your criteria.

How it works.

Sourcing

We use the details from your Riipen experience page and outline to tailor your course promotion to potential employers. To match our leads accordingly, we consider your preferences, like subject matter, depth, company size, industry, location, and service type.

Targeted outreach

We use our database of existing employers and thousands of new leads to create outreach campaigns aimed at securing potential projects.

1:1 consultation

Employers interested in your experience have a consultation with our team. During this meeting, we discuss the project's scope and help them tailor it to fit your experience.

Match request & finalization

After the employer creates a project, we help them request a match to your experience. This allows you to review the project and see if it fits your course curriculum. On the Riipen platform, you can negotiate any changes to the scope to make the project ideal for your learners.

Match

Once you're satisfied with the project scope, both you and the employer will be asked to confirm the match, and then your experience can proceed with the project.
